My Sister Em's Fellow.

A boy thus describes his misdoings and their punishment: My sister Em has got a feller who has been coming to see her every night for some time. Night before last, just to have a little fun, I went into the parlor and crawled under the sofa on the sly, and waited until he got settled, and just as he was asking her— if she was willing—to become his dear partner for life, and trust to his strong right arm for support and protection, I gave three red-hot Indian-pur-whoppers and fired off an old horse-pistol that I had borrowed of Sam Johnson, and, my gracious, how that fellow jumped up and scooted for the door! He never stopped to get his hat but tumbled head over heels down the door steps. As for Em, she just squatted right down on the floor and screeched like blue blazes till dad and mother came running in with nothing on but their night clothes, and wanted to know what the matter was: But Em only yelled the louder, and kept pointing under the sofa till dad got down on his knees and saw mother, and pulled me out by the hind leg. When he got me out to the wood shed he wrapped me over his knee and went at me with an old trunk strap, and I've not got over it nicely yet.

The Law of the Rail.

Some one who has taken the trouble to post himself on the laws governing railroad passenger travel, says that extra charges for failure to buy tickets are universally sustained by the courts, but there must be a full opportunity to buy afforded by the ticket seller. Passengers must show tickets when asked for. As to "stopping off," there is only one decision, which is that a passenger cannot "stop off" and resume his journey without the previous assent of the company. As to the obligation of the road to furnish a seat to a passenger, a decision says: "A passenger who exhibits his ticket need not surrender it until he is furnished with a seat." A railroad is not liable for things stolen out of a passenger's seat, there being no previous delivery to the company's servants; for the same reason, the company is not liable for baggage in the passenger's own care. Passengers who neglect to look after their own baggage on arrival at their destination, cannot recover if it is lost without fault of the carrier. Baggage left in station-houses for the passenger's conveyance, after it has reached its destination, comes under a new class of rights and duties, the baggage-master assuming the position of "gratuitous bailee," who only becomes liable in cases of gross negligence. The obligation of a railroad as carrier ceases when it has delivered to its owner at the place of destination, or when he has reasonable opportunity of receiving and removing it. It will interest sportsmen to know that they may recover for the value of dogs when they are entrusted to baggage-masters for hire, because of their exclusion from the passenger car.

A New House.

A young man who was in Danbury on Friday, in the interest of a new heating apparatus, heard that Major P. was building a new house, and speedily hunted up the veteran.

"I hear you are building a new house," he said to the major.
"I ain't exactly building one," said the major, in the tone of a man who didn't care to commit himself; "I have built it."

"Exactly! Glad to hear it," said the agent. Have you made any arrangements for heating the new building?" and the agent looked anxious.

"Well no," muttered the major, with a stare, as if the heating of the building was a subject that had entirely slipped his mind.

"So much the better for you," explained the agent, "as I think I have just the article you want, combining economy, heat and cleanliness. We have sold thousands of them throughout the country, and have yet to hear of a single failure on the part of the heater to do all that is claimed for it. It is the sum total of every excellence yet produced in the numerous devices patented for heating buildings, and I am quite confident that I can demonstrate to you the superior advantages which this heater enjoys above all others. Where is your new house?"

"On Essex street," said the major.
"Supposing you jump in the carriage with me, and take a drive over there. I should like to see it."

The major consented, and getting his overcoat, mounted the seat with the hopeful and eloquent agent, and they drove off. On the way, the agent rapidly went over the many favorable points of the admirable heater, and was much gratified at the impression he had evidently made on his companion.

Arriving in front of the new building, a large and rather unpretentious structure, the agent said:
"What are you going to do with this, major? Make a tenement or a boarding house of it?"

"Oh, no," said the major, as he carefully reached the ground, and looked innocently around, "it is an ice-house."

"What?" screamed the agent. "It is an ice-house," repeated the major, blandly.
The last seen of that agent he was applying the lash to his horse, and tearing out of the neighborhood at a marvelous pace.

At last she completely cured him.

For months she had patiently endured the pangs so many thousand young wives are compelled to suffer. Almost every morning at breakfast the heartless husband expressed the hope that he might live to see the day when he should get such coffee as he used to have at home. Or such corn bread as mother was wont to make and bake. At dinner the meat was over-baked in the range. To be sure his mother used to roast the meat in an old-fashioned Dutch tin oven, and the piece was always done to a turn—the last turn of the revolving spit. Those days were forever gone. But he might and ought to get such a green apple pie with new cheese as his mother used to give him. At length the long suffering wife arose in her wrath, upset the table, sending the dishes and their contents clashing to the carpet, strided over to the astonished husband, gave him a box on the ear which knocked him off his chair, and re-marked: "There's a clip over the head for you such as your mother used to give you when you was a boy, golden yer." Thereafter there was domestic peace and quiet in that house, with never even an allusion to the maternal cookery and comfort of the by-gone days.

What's all this talk about the currency and the five-twinties and the sivil-thirties that I hears about, Mike?"

"Why, bliss your sowl, don't ye know, Pat? It means that the Government wants to make the laborin' man work from five-twenty in the mornin' till sivil-thirty in the evening." "Och, the spalpeens! May the devil choke them!"

Because we happen to take our shot-gun and start out for a Saturday afternoon's gunning, it is no reason why a dozen impudent persons should inquire if we were on a tour for collecting subscription money. The times are hard, and ammunition costs too much money to be wasted on delinquent subscribers just now.

Women's Wages.

It has been my good fortune for six or eight years in this city to be able to give employment to a number of women, and to pay for their work precisely what it seemed to be worth, without reference to the sex of the worker. That, after all, seemed to me to be the true basis for any successful efforts you may make to help working-women. First of all—justice! After that there will be far less need for charity; and what does prove to be wanted may generally take that better form of merely helping the needy to a way to help themselves.

I know that this question of wages is not without its embarrassments, and that frequently where women claim equal pay with men in the same work they are claiming what they do not earn, and what employers cannot give without loss. But this does not effect the general principle. When their work is clearly and in all respects equally valuable, it is entitled to equal reward. When you refuse that, you are undermining the very foundation for any honest effort by women to earn their own living. If they are to start fairly to support themselves, you must not begin by breaking down their self-respect, and outraging their sense of right. You do both, if you pay them less for the same work equally well done for the sole reason that they are women and not men.

To-day, through the whole range of women's employments, but especially in the industries wherein they come in competition with men, there is a constant complaint that workingwomen rarely become much more than apprentices, that they do not learn their trades, that they are not generally good, trustworthy, efficient operatives, that they are not so attentive or industrious or persistent as workingmen. How can they work with the spirit and zeal men show, if they are to be met on pay-day by an unjust and intrinsically mean discrimination? How can they nerve themselves to the thorough mastery of the handicraft or art, when thoroughness brings no reward? I am urging no sentimental plea. It is not a question of chivalry, but of justice. I do not ask for fair pay for women because they are women, but because they earn it. Whenever they do not earn it, by all means refuse to give it. I only ask that when they do earn as much as their brother-laborers, they shall be paid as much, and that they shall have from the outset the stimulus of knowing that equal work will always bring equal pay.—White-Lane Reid.

Is a machine-girl much better than a hand-made? Yes: sew-much.

The first two orphans.—Adam and Eve.
Why is a doctor better taken care of than his patients?—Because, when he goes to bed, somebody is sure to rap him up.

An Illinois chemist, owing to the non-payment of his fee, refuses to return a stomach sent him for analysis.
"What part do you perform in the great drama of life?" said a fop to a laborer. "I mind my own business," was the reply.

"I am happy, Ned, to hear the report that you have succeeded to a large landed property." "And I am sorry, Tom, to tell you that it is groundless."

A few more of these snappy mornings and no house-fly will care a copper whether the family he lives with means to run in debt for their coal or pay cash.

A handsome youth being questioned by a rather stylish lady as to his occupation, replied that he was "an adjuster of moveable alphabets." "He was simply a printer."

"Say!" said the city youth to the modest countryman, "got the lay-seal out 'o' your hair yet?" "Wall," was the deliberate reply, "I judge not from the way the culver run arter me."

A Yankee has invented a milking machine that can be carried in pocket-book. Now, if he were to invent a milch cow that could be carried in the coat-tail pocket, his machines would sell more rapidly.

The old ladies of Massachusetts are petitioning Gov. Gaston, of Massachusetts, not to hang Jesse Pomroy for the reason that in the present delicate state of his health it would be impossible for him to survive the operation.

Mrs. Casp, of Shoals, Indiana, during the course of a single week knocked one tramp down, broke a rib for another, shot at a third, and kicked a fourth so vigorously that he had to go to the hospital. This is the liveliest Case on record.

A reporter being called to account for the statement that a certain meeting "was a large and respectable one," when only one other person besides himself was present, insisted that his report was literally true; for, said he, "I was large and the other man was respectable."

She Cured Him.

At last she completely cured him. For months she had patiently endured the pangs so many thousand young wives are compelled to suffer. Almost every morning at breakfast the heartless husband expressed the hope that he might live to see the day when he should get such coffee as he used to have at home. Breaking Up of Parties.

The New York Herald has a column and a half in exposition of a probable general disruption of parties. It thinks it probable that the hard-money Democrats of New York and New England will run a ticket of their own, while Grant will be the candidate of the hard-money Republicans, and somebody else the candidate of the soft-money Democrats and Republicans.

The Tribune seems to adopt the same idea, but in its programme Governor Tilden will be the prominent figure—receiving the votes of all hard-money Democrats and Republicans, and leaving Grant out in the cold.

Both the Tribune and Herald refer to the course of the World and Brooklyn Eagle, especial champions of Governor Tilden, and outspoken in their hostility to Governor Allen, and the latter openly urging the Democrats in Ohio to vote for Hays, the Republican candidate. The course of these papers is construed as indicating the secret wishes and intentions of Governor Tilden to be an independent candidate, if the Democratic Convention nominates an inflationist.

The Herald closes its article as follows: The common impression is that if the inflationists get control of the Democratic party General Grant will be the inevitable candidate of the Republicans on a hard-money platform. If things take that turn Governor Tilden intends to cut him out by a brilliant feat of strategy. He will split the Democratic organization and attempt to form a new party on a strong platform of hard-money and reform. He doubtless calculates that there are hundreds of thousands of Republicans who will sooner vote for him as the head of a new party than President Grant running for a third term.

The time is ripe for a re-organization of political parties if there are men bold enough to attempt and sagacious enough to accomplish it. Both of our existing parties have outlived the issues of which they are founded. Both are full of internal dissensions. The Republican party is in as great danger of being cleft asunder by the third-term question as the Democratic party is by the inflation issue. It is high time for a re-organization which will enable citizens who think alike to act together. It will be fortunate for the country if the old carcasses can be buried and new parties formed on living issues.—Richmond Whig.

Western N. C. Railroad.

The paragraphs concerning the progress of the Western N. C. Railroad we copy from the Raleigh News: MEETING OF COMMISSIONERS. A meeting of the newly appointed Commissioners of this road was held at Salisbury yesterday to consider the question of prosecuting the work under legislative requirements.—Messrs. Hicks and Allen, of the Penitentiary Board, met with this Board at Salisbury with a view of completing the arrangements necessary for the working of the convicts, as these convicts will necessarily have to be kept under the immediate supervision of the Penitentiary Board. It is contemplated to work from three to five hundred convicts on the work of tunnelling the Blue Ridge.

CONVICTS SENT TO WORK THE ROAD.

On Monday evening 37 convicts of the State Penitentiary, under legislative enactment, were shipped to the Western Railroad, and will at once be placed at work at the mouth of the tunnel just west of Old Fort. It is intended that these men shall build a stockade for the security of the hundreds who are to be sent to work upon the tunnel with a view of completing the road through the mountains.

BONDS FORWARDED. The $850,000 worth of W. N. C. R. R. bonds necessary to relieve that road of all obligations, under the recent purchase made by the State, were on Monday forwarded to Treasurer D. A. Jenkins at Charlotte, Trustee of the road, to be used in liquidating the debt of the road and enabling the present management to go ahead with the double work before them. The issuing of these bonds in the place of the present floating debt of the road will place that road upon a financial basis that it has not hitherto occupied.

Man Killed.

HORRIBLE ACCIDENT ON THE CAROLINA CENTRAL RAILROAD.

Win. Dulin, of Poplar Tent, Cabarrus county, was run over by a train on the Carolina Central Railway, about a half mile from Charlotte, on Monday night the 18th inst., and killed. The accident was not discovered at the time, and consequently the body was not taken up, and another train which came in the same night run over it again, and Engineer on the down train Tuesday morning, did not see the body until it was too late to prevent the train, (the same one that killed him,) from again running over the already mangled corpse.

Mr. Dulin was in Charlotte on Monday and was intoxicated, and started home on horseback about sundown, and it is supposed he reached the crossing just as the train came up, and his horse took fright and started up the road along side of the track, and falling into a cattle guard, threw his rider in front of the train, and the night being very dark owing to a rising storm, the Engineer failed to discover the presence of either the horse or rider.

The reporter for the Charlotte Observer accompanied the jury in quest to the place where the body was lying, and in speaking of the accident says: The sight presented upon arriving there, was one which, once seen, will never be forgotten.—Close to the cattle guard was the first evidence of blood; here is where the train struck and ran over the head, and all around were lying brains and pieces of skull; a little further on, between two cross-ties, was lying just half of the head and face, as if he had been cleft in the centre of the head with an axe; on the right of this laid his neck tie and on the left a pint bottle of corn whiskey with about one drink gone; the bottle was unbroken and the cork was still in it. A little further up the track, laid one hand, cut off just above the wrist; a little further still, was a part of his overcoat, and about 25 yards from where the first blood was seen, laid what was left of the body. This, when we saw it, had been lifted from between the rails and placed on the side of the track. All along, over this 25 yards, blood brains, pieces of clothing and portions of skull bones, covered the ground and ties. One does not care to see such a sight more than once in a life time. The body was headless, and one arm, which had been broken in a score of places, hung to the shoulder by the skin. From the hips up the trunk was nude, and was a perfect jelly; the surgeon could hardly find a sound spot on it. The legs were not broken, strangely enough, and the shoes remained on the feet.

"Deceased was a man about 35 years of age. He was unmarried, but was the guardian of several children of a dead brother or sister, and these lived with him. He was a well-to-do farmer, and bore an excellent character."

What a forcible argument for the Temperance cause. The verdict of the jury after hearing all the evidence before them, was that he was either killed by a fall from his horse upon the track, or by the train running over him. They cannot agree which, for both surmises have equal probabilities. The report was given us by J. McLaughlin, the foreman.—Charlotte Observer.

Indicted for Libel.

Some of the Board of Commissioners of Robeson county have indicted W. P. Canaday, Esq., editor and proprietor of the Wilmington Post, and J. J. Cassidy, late associate editor of the same, in the Superior Court for that county, for libel. The indictment, we suppose, of course, is founded on the comments of that paper upon the course the majority of said Board saw proper to pursue in granting certificates to the Democratic candidates for seats in the late Constitutional Convention. The capias was received by Sheriff Manning and served on the parties, when bonds were given in the sum of $500 each for their appearance at the next term of the Superior Court at Lumberton.

Several bills of the defunct bank of Mecklenburg were passed off on the ticket agent of Howe's circus at Charlotte for circus tickets and good money given in exchange. One man received for ten dollars $9.25 in greenbacks and a circus ticket.

ADDRESS AT WADSWORTH.—Last Tuesday, after the adjournment of Anson Court. Hon. A. M. Waddell was called upon for a political speech.

A very large crowd were present, and the Colonel, although the call was unexpected, he being there on other business, complied with the request, making a capital address in conversational style on various topics connected with State and National politics.

Asked "how about Ohio?" he said the Democratic policy had been defeated in a great measure by the animosity of Democrats in other States. It was unfortunate. He himself had endorsed the Ohio Democrats. It looked as if New York leaders were determined to rule the country. He thought the time had come when such leaders should be taught a lesson.

But turning from Ohio and national politics, Col. Waddell discussed State politics. He referred to the amendments which had been passed by the late Convention, and said they should be supported for they offered great relief to a burdened people. In the course of this part of his speech Colonel Waddell claimed that everything should be done to ensure success. There was one man in North Carolina who was able to carry the State against great odds, and who had ability. He described the man. Loud calls were made to name him. The speaker said he had thought it unnecessary to give his name. He, the speaker, was not then in the role of making nominations. He did not say that some other gentleman could not carry the State for the Conservative cause in '76 but he would say that he believed that ex-Gov. Zeb Vance could carry it beyond a single doubt, and Vance should be elected whether he liked it or not. Prolonged cheers greeted this remark.

At night Col. Waddell delivered to a very respectable audience in intelligence and numbers his famous lecture on "America before Columbus," according to announcement extended to him some time since. The lecture was for a charitable purpose and we are pleased that it turned out well.—Wilmington Star.

A DESPERATE RENCONTRE.—Quite a desperate conflict, we learn, took place lately at a point on the line between Columbus and Bladen counties.

It appears that a feud had long existed between a family of whites by the name of Buie and a family of mulattoes in the same neighborhood by the name of Young. On the day in question a rencontre took place between some one of the parties, in which all the male members of each family finally became engaged, including the elder Buie and his two sons on the one side, and Jim Young, his son, Isaac Young, and an Indian half-breed by the name of Wilson, on the other side. During the fight, in which a gun and a hatchet figured among the weapons, the elder Buie received a severe gun-shot wound in the side of one of his legs, and Jim Young got a severe blow from the hatchet. The wound of Mr. Buie is said to be a very serious one, and may result in the loss of his leg, if nothing worse.—Star.

Wilmington Journal: The epizootic which raged so fearfully among the horses of this city last fall, has again broken out in a serious form. We noticed several horses on the wharf yesterday attached to drays which seemed to be suffering with the disease. If it continues on the increase we will probably have to call our bovines into requisition as we did last fall. The disease however of this year is not of such a malignant form as last year.

A CHURN RUNNING BY WATER.—Mr. George N. Alexander, living near Berea church in Buncombe, has a large churn at his spring-house, and the "dash" is turned by a stream of mountain water. He just puts in a dozen gallons of milk, raises the gate and gets about his business. After a while Mrs. Alexander takes out the butter and milk and stores them in the cool spring-house.—Orphans Friend.

Now that the Convention has adjourned it is quite natural to hear Republicans find fault with its work, forgetting that the Republican members of that body are responsible for the prolonged session, and that they are responsible because other needed amendments were not made. But let them rave. We expect nothing less from their side. That the people will ratify the amendments when voted on, we are well assured.—Ex

GRANGE KNITTING MACHINE.

GENIUS and SIMPLE. THE PERFECTION OF MECHANISM. (MADE UNDER THE LEECH PATENTS.)

After a large expenditure of time and money in experimenting on the Knitting Machine, we have been enabled to make a simple practical machine, especially adapted to family use on account of its simplicity and the great range of work it will accomplish. It is more simple than a sewing machine, and any person ordinarily skillful will learn its use with only the assistance of the "Instruction Book," which accompanies each machine. Its simplicity, together with its capacity for doing the great range of work, makes it a matter of economy for every family to have one, and will ultimately bring it in general use, as is the case with the Sewing Machine. The machine will knit—in cotton, wool, silk or linen—socks, stockings, leggings, mittens, wristers, scarfs, hfgans, blankets, &c., &c. In fact, the capacity of the machine for making garments is only limited by the ingenuity of the operator.

Jno. G. Wells, the well-known publisher of "Every Man His Own Lawyer," writes: "To Messrs. Jeremy & Follett, manufacturers of the 'Grange' Knitting Machine. 'Gents:—If brevity is the soul of wit; so simplicity in machinery the soul of merit. The 'Grange' Knitting Machine pleases me. Others are ingeniously constructed, but too complicated for inexperienced hands—too liable to get out of order. A child can work 'The Grange,' and there is seemingly nothing to get out of order. Believing that to lesson labor adds to the wealth of a people—and to human happiness—I most heartily endorse and recommend your invaluable household convenience. 'J. G. Wells, 27 Clinton Place.' 'New York, March 29, 1875.'"

Testimonials and references from all parts of the country furnished on application. Send for descriptive circular. Special inducements for Patrons of Household conveniences. Our machine is endorsed and recommended by the Ex. Com. N. Y. State Grange P. of H. and others. Address, JEREMY & FOLLETT, 697 Broadway, New York. AGENTS WANTED.

Changed His Base.

Mr. W. P. Myers, who has been connected with the Dry Goods house of McMurray & Davis, of this city since 1869, has accepted a position as salesman in the wholesale store of Wittkowsky & Rintels, and will enter upon the duties of his new position on Monday. There are few gentlemen in this city, if any, who are better known, or are more popular than Mr. Myers; and Wittkowsky & Rintels are fortunate in having secured his services. He is thoroughly versed in business, is an affable gentleman, and has hosts of friends over a large area of country. He would be a valuable accession to any house, and his connection with Wittkowsky & Rintels will tend to extend in no small degree, their already large business.—Charlotte Observer Oct. 2, 1875 2m.

MONROE ENQUIRER

NOTICE TO TEACHERS—There will be a meeting of the Teachers of Union County in the new School Building at Monroe on Saturday the 13th of November next. It is desired that every teacher be present.

We devote a good deal of our local space this week to give room for the publication of the Examinations papers of Monroe High School. The reports in the following studies will appear next week, to wit History, German, Geometry, Chemistry and Philosophy.

APPOINTMENTS FOR ELDER P. SIDER—Jerusalem October 27 Lawyers Springs, 29, High Ridge, 29, Oscons Old Field, 30, and 31. Baucans School House, November, 1, White Store, 2, High Ridge, 3, Fanks, 4, Liberty, (Barton Lanays funeral), 5, High Hill, 6, and 7, Watson, 8, Union Grove, 9, Liberty Hill, 10.

The Ladies of the Methodist Church at Wadesboro, prepared a public dinner on Tuesday of last week, from which they realized $135. Tickets were sold at fifty cents each. The proceeds will be used in assisting to build a Parsonage. The table was handsomely decorated with flowers, was well filled with the luxuries and substantial, and did great credit to the Ladies who prepared it. An oyster dinner was had on Wednesday, from which over $30 was realized.

For the benefit of our readers who engaged Fruit Trees of Messrs J. M. Ward & Co., of the Greensboro Nurseries, we announce, that their Agent will be in this place on Thursday the 18th of November next, with the Trees ready for delivery.

Cold weather is already here. Send money, provisions, clothes and other needful articles to the Orphan Asylum at Oxford. No labored exhortation is necessary. This is the people's institution: it is doing vast good; it asks for no enormous funds; it should be sustained.

MONEY NEEDED. Those of our Subscribers who owe us for the Enquirer will please call in and settle, as we are compelled to have money to carry on our business.

The great scarcity of money which has prevailed during the last twelve or eighteen months, has caused us to depart, to some extent, from our usual course, and although we have not added but very few new names on which the money was not paid, yet we continued many after the time paid for had expired. We know that in many instances it was not convenient for the parties to renew promptly, and at their request, we continued their papers to them, notwithstanding to do this we were at a heavy expense. The crops are now being harvested and sold, and we urge upon those who are indebted to us to pay up without delay.

We hope we shall not have to make a second appeal. It is only a small sum from each one, and many would probably think that each man's dollar or two would not help much, but take all the dollars together and it will make enough to help us a good deal.

BE YOUR OWN PHYSICIAN.—There is no case of Dyspepsia that Green's August Flower will not cure. Come to the Drug Store of BLAIR WALSH & Flow and inquire about it. If you suffer from Constiveness, Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Indigestion, Liver Complaint, or derangement of the System, try it. Two or three doses will relieve you.

AGUA COSQUEON is the only remedy in the United States that contains no Quinine, Arsenic, or other poisons injurious to the system, that will cure Fever and Ague, Intermittent or Bilious Fevers, &c., and the Chills not return during the season. It permanently cures Fever and Ague of long standing.

DARKEY REPARTEE.—The Observer says: It was at one of the trains running into Charlotte, the other day, and a darkey was about transferring a box of freight. It was more load than he wanted, and he called to a dilapidated specimen of his race near by, to come to his assistance.

"Humph!" was the response, "git-tin' mighty weak all at wunst; dat box ain't half as hebbly as dat hog yer carried off de oder night. Yer ain't done forgot about de 'ready is yer?" "Forgot nuffin. Course I isn't forgot. But don't you mind you hep me cary him fore I got outter sight ob de pen?"

"Dat's so, by gosh; an (reflectively) I nubber got nuffin but one ham fur it."

The shouts of the bystanders ended the colloquy.

THE CAROLINA CENTRAL.—By a change made recently in the running of the fast freight and passenger trains on this road, there will be an evening train leaving this city and Charlotte respectively, on every Sunday as well as every other day. The morning trains will run as heretofore, as will be seen by the advertised schedule.

We are most heartily glad to learn that this increase of the number of trains on the Carolina Central is owing to the increasing demands on its carrying facilities. We learn that everything now upon the line is worked to its utmost, to transport the vast amount of freight which is seeking to and from Wilmington.—Wilmington Journal.

Why suffer with a bad cold if one bottle of Dr Bull's Cough Syrup will cure a cough of the worst kind. Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is sold for 25 cents per bottle, or five bottles for $1.00, in every respectable drug store in the United States.

COMMON SENSE vs. PREJUDICE.

By R. V. FRANCE, M. D., of the World's Dispensary, Buffalo, N. Y., Author of "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser," etc., etc.

I am aware that there is a popular, and not altogether unfounded, prejudice against "patent medicines," owing to the small amount of merit which many of them possess. The application of "Patent Medicines," does not apply to my remedies, as no patent has ever been asked for or obtained upon them, nor have they been urged upon the public as "cure-alls." They are simply some favorite prescriptions, which, in an extensive practice, have proved their superior remedial virtues in the cure of the diseases for which they are recommended. Every practicing physician has his favorite remedies, which he oftenest recommends or uses, because he has the greatest confidence in their virtues. The patient does not know their composition. Even prescriptions are usually written in a language unintelligible to any but the druggist. As much secrecy is employed in the preparation of proprietary medicines, does the fact that an article is prepared by a process known only to the manufacturer render it a material less valuable? How many physicians know the elementary composition of the remedies which they employ, some of which have never been analyzed? Few practitioners know how Morphine, Quinine, Podophyllin, Sassafras, Pepsin, or Chloroform are made, or how many drugs are transformed into palatable elixirs; yet they do not hesitate to employ them. It is not inconsistent to use a prescription, the composition of which is unknown to us, and another preparation simply because it is accompanied by a printed statement of its properties for its use?

Some persons, while admitting that my medicines are good, object to them on the ground that they are too often used with insufficient judgment. I propose to obviate this difficulty by enlightening the people as to the structure and functions of their bodies, and the character and symptoms of disease, and by indicating the proper and judicious employment of my medicines, together with such auxiliary treatment as may be necessary. Such is one of the designs of the People's Medical Adviser, forty thousands copies of which have already been published, and are sold at the exceeding low price of $1.50, and sent (post-paid) to any address within the United States and Canada.

If you would patronize medicines, scientifically prepared, use my Family Medicines. Golden Medical Discovery is tonic, alternative, of blood cleaning, and an unequalled cough remedy; Pleasant Purgative Elixirs, scarcely larger than mustard seed, constitute an agreeable and reliable physic; Favorite Prescription a remedy for debilitated females; my Compound Extract of Sassafras, a magical remedy for pain, bowel complaints, and an unequalled Liniment for both human and horse-flesh; while Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy is known the world over as the greatest specific for Catarrh of the "Cold in the Head," ever given to the public.

These standard remedies have been before the public for many years—a period long enough to fully test their merits, and the best arguments that can be advanced in their favor is the fact that their sale was never so great as during the past six months.

Mechanical ingenuity culminated in the invention of the Sewing Machine, and millions of toiling women were elevated from drudgery and poverty to intelligence, industry and competence. If this be true in the abstract as regards the average sewing machine, with what force must it apply to that marvelous embodiment of all that is useful and beautiful in sewing machine mechanism, the Victor Sewing Machine which has fairly eclipsed all others, not only in its adaptability to do all kinds of work but in the ease with which it is done. It may be said to have carried it admirers by storm as soon as its capacity for work became known. The arm of its inventor has been to discard every useless complication peculiar to ordinary machines, and only familiarity with the machine will enable our readers fully to appreciate how far he has succeeded. It is not too much to say the machine will last a life time. Salesroom 54 East 10th St., N. Y. City, and in all the large cities of the country. 22-3m.

Farm and Household

Epizootic in Horses.
This disease, that swept over this entire country and proved so serious in the fall of 1872, is appearing again this fall, though probably in a milder form. Nearly all the horses of this and other cities are affected with it already, and it is certain to spread to the country very soon. Horses that are in good condition will suffer the least from its attack. Its first symptom is a slight cough, which gradually becomes more frequent and severe, accompanied with running at the nose and swelling of the throat between the jaw bones. Horses that are in good heart and are properly taken care of will probably only be slightly affected.

A writer in the Ohio Farmer advises the simplest treatment possible. Keep the horses in a warm, comfortable, clean, and well ventilated stable, blanketed in wet, cold weather; feed well with oats and sweet hay (or in too heating), with a good bran mash once a day; the only medicine needed is to thoroughly rub the throat with some good liniment if it should become much swollen, and be very careful not to let them take cold. A little exercise every day at light work or careful driving, we deem beneficial; but any violent exercise, or anything approaching over exertion, will be almost certain to produce serious results.

The aim should be to keep the horse in as strong heart as possible, and Nature will soon work out the disease. The usual term of this distressing and destructive malady is from two to twenty days.—Scientific American.

Why Cattle Require Salt.

Prof. Johnson says:
We know why the animal craves salt, and why it ultimately falls into disease if salt is for a time withheld. Upwards of half the saline matter of the blood (67 per cent.) consists of common salt; and as this is partly discharged every day through the skin and kidneys, the necessity of continued supplies of it to the body becomes sufficiently obvious. The bile also contains soda as a special and indispensable constituent, and so do all the excretions of the body. Therefore, if the supply of salt be stinted, neither will the bile be able properly to assist the digestion, nor the excretions be built up again as they naturally waste.

And when we consider it to be a fact that without salt a man would miserably perish; as among horrible punishment entailing certain death, that of feeding culprits on saltless food is said to have prevailed in barbarous times, we may become partially convinced at least, of the necessity of feeding salt to our stock—that it is one of the necessities as well as one of the luxuries of life for man and beast, and it should be profusely provided at short intervals, in proper places, if it cannot be kept by them continually, so that each and every animal may satisfy the demands of his nature. Then it shall not be said of us that while our puddings is well seasoned and salted our stock are allowed to suffer for want of the same ingredient, which is as truly necessary for their food as ours.

New Tops on old Pear Trees.

That the pear is a long lived tree, the famous Endicott and Staynesant pear trees, going back two hundred years and more, attest. Yet we frequently find trees that look old at fifty years and less, with dead limbs, mossy trunks, and fruitless boughs. These old trees are often seedlings, or poor varieties that have offered no particular impediment to their owners to care for them. A crop of astringent or sour pears is not much missed when it fails. These old trees sometimes occupy lawns or fields near the house, and will repay abundantly the little care that is needed to give them a new start, and to graft them with standard varieties. The secret of success with these old trees is to stir the soil all around them as far as the roots extend, to manure liberally, to cut out all the dead wood, and about the second season, when the tree has got a good start, to commence grafting. We take three seasons to put on a new top, beginning with the highest limbs and working down. In renewing the vigor of the tree almost any kind of manure or compost is available. Wood ashes is one of the best fertilizers. Old bones, well buried, will pay a large interest on their cost.

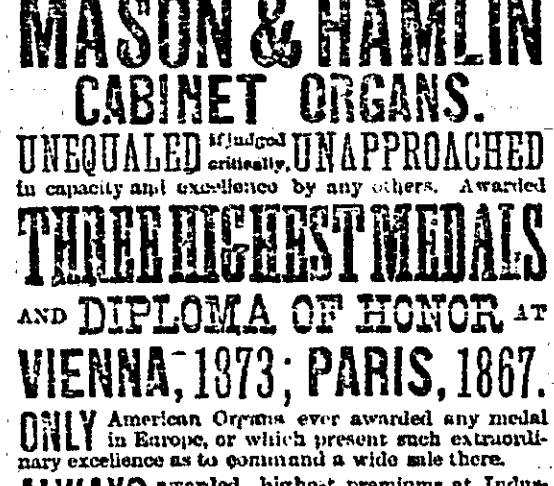

In stirring the soil, care should be taken not to break the roots with the plough. We attach about equal importance to the stirring of the soil and to the fertilizing, in the process of renovation.

CORN MILL AND COTTON GINS

WE have purchased another Cotton Gin and a Corn Mill, and have attached a Steam Engine, and are now fully prepared to Gin Cotton or Gird Corn in a manner that will give satisfaction. For the present we will make as much as fifteen hundred bales in an hour; but after we commence ginning we will grind any day. Our terms are: For Ginning Cotton, one Fiftieth. For a Grinding Corn, one Tenth. Our Mill makes as good meal as any water mill. We will guarantee satisfaction. Highest market prices paid for Seed Cotton.
