VOL. V.

HONORS TO OUR WORKMEN

Whom shall we call our heroes? To whom our praises sing? The pampered child of fortune, The titled lord or king? They live by other's labor-Take all, and nothing give; The noblest type of manhood Are those that work to live.

Who spans the earth with iron. And rears the palace dome? Who creates for the rich man The comforts of a home? It is the patient toiler! All nonor to him then: The true wealth of the nation Is in her working men.

For many barren ages Earth hid her treasure deep, And all her giant forces Seemed bound as if in sleep; Then labor's "anvil chorus" Broke on the startled air, And lo! the earth in rapture Laid all her riches bare.

Tis toil that over nature Gives man his proud control, And parities and hallows The temples of his soul. It scatters foul diseases, With all its ghastly train; Puts iron in the muscle, And chrystal in the brain.

The Grand, Almighty builder, Who tashioned out the earth, Hath stamped His seal of honor On labor from her birth,

In every angel flower That blossoms from the soil. Behold the Master touches-The handiwork of God! Then honor to our workmen, The hardy sons of toil-The heroes of the workshops And monarchs of the soil!

The sacrifice of her fortune to her heart's choice would not have cost Fannie Cameron a moments hesitation, but a father's dying request, in her eyes, was most sacred, although it had greatly surprised and shaken her, for in their conferences he had never gone beyond the most fatherly and kind remonstrances.

LARGE NUMBER OF PERSONS KILLED AN BETWEEN $3,000,000 AND $4,000,000 OF PROPERPTY DESTROYED.

Since our last issue, the Railroad strike which was reported at Martinsburg, has grown to large proportions, tlarming the government authorities at Washington, and the officials and people of the Northern States, all of which comprise large elements of disorder, and turbulence, and danger. It will be seen by the reports copied into this paper, that the disturbance has become very serious, resulting in the loss of many lives and the destruction of property of immense value The trouble has extended from road to road and from State to State; and although all has become quiet at the points of its earlier movement, like conflagration it spreads out wherever there is material on which it can feed Washington, July 22.—The excitement over the railroad war has steadilv increased here to-day. The administration is evidently much alarmand McCrary reported that few troops river. were available in the present emergency beyond what had been already drawn. It was first decided that the only thing that could be done was to oil. call out the militia of the several States, and then that it was better to. await developments.

Grave fears are felt that the militi of Pennsylvannia and Ohio particul arly join the strikers.

The sympathy of the people here seems to be largest with strikers, al though the rioting and destruction of property is almost universally de-

John Sherman is very voluminously cursed, and the blame of riots very frequently laid at the door of his financial policy.

It is stated that Secretary Sherman favors an immediate call for the as sembling of Congress. The strong central government which the Republicans nave been building since 1861 seems a feeble affair. They have squandered the sovereignty which they took from the States.

The government has ordered troops from Columbus to Pittsburg, and from St. Louis to Indianopolis, for the protection of the arsenals. An extraordinary confusion exists.

Thieves, strikers, State militia, and Government troops are playing at cross surposes-all, however, playing juto the hands of the thieves.

PITTSBURG, July 22.-The fatal effects of the shots fired by the soldiers have exasperated the citizens as well as the strikers and bands of workingmen of all classes are in arms against the troops. By 8 o'clock in the evening mobs were moving all over the city, sacking stores to secure arms. The troops were beseiged in the roundhouse, and every effort, by solid shot and torch, was made to burn them out. Burning cars were rolled alongside the round-house, and the troops nearly roasted, and compelled to flee through the flames and the mass of rioters who were clamoring for their blood. They were followed up the street and fired upon at every step. · All railroad property has been burned. In the round-house were 125 first-class locomotives which were entirely consumed. The scenes on the streets actually beggar description. People of all classes are wild with excitement. When private property catches fire the rioters help suppress the flames. At 11 a. m., to-day (Sunday) the soldiers yielded and the mob was uncontrolled. They burned and destroyed without let or hindrance. The loss cannot be stated, but it is supposed lying on the sidewalks where they

BOARD OF HEALTH OF NORTH CAROLINA, WILMINGTON, N. C., July 16th, 1877.

I respectfully call your attention to the Act of the General Assembly which provides for the organization of Boards of Health, in each county in North Carolina. It will be seen that it is necessary first to organize a County Medical Association in accordance with the Constition of the State Medical Society, and having fulfilled this requirement your Association can be constituted a County Board of Health. These auxiliary organizations are absolutely necessary to carry out the work outlined by the Act of Assembly, and the State Board relies with confidence upon their aid in this the beital. It is in no present danger, but ginning of State Medicine in North

The Lake Shore and Eric yards and The Louisiana Returning Board Case.

> Mr. Finney, the District Attorney for the parish of New Orleans, has written to the New York "Herald" an explanatory letter in reply to the comments of Messrs. Wells, Anderson and their associate members of the Louisiana Returning Board in regard to the charges preferred against them in the Superior Criminal Court of New Orleans, Mr. Finney states that it is true that the grand jury did not as was originally reported, a bill of indictment against the members of the Returning Board. But they did what most persons will consider equivalent to it. On the 27th of June, just prior to adjournment, the grand jury authorized their foreman to make written request to the court to instruct the District Attorney to file the proper information against the members of the Returning Board "for perjury, forgery, and altering the returns of Mount Vernon parish and other parishes of the State." Eight days afterward, noting in accordance with these instructions, Mr. Finney says mation upon which Wells and his colleagues must appear for trial. The Cotton Prospect.

The New York Financial "Chron icle" takes a hopeful view of the future of cotton. The low price of the staple and its fabrics, the "Chronicle" says. have so increased the consumption of the staple that the mills are unable to meet the demand. The population has increased since the 1873 panic; the buying capacity of our people uncrops and past economies, is rapidly on the increase; the export demand The following circular letter has is also decidedly larger, and at paying ment and lent it all the aid they prices; altogether giving to the manufacturing outlook an extremely favorable aspect-never more promising, unless prices be run up to a point which shall check consumption. The "Chronicle" shows that consumption, has outrun production, that we have not enough mills to supply our home trade and satisfy an increasing export demand. In July, 1874, the mills had a large surplus of stock on hand; in July, 1875, they held a decreased stock of goods, although they had used up as much cotton as ever; in July, 1876, the stock was still further educed, although more raw cotton was consumed than in any one of the previous years. Fifty-eight of the argest cotton manufacturing corporations of New England consumed during the first six months of 1876 91,469,447 pounds of cotton, and during the first six months of 1877 the same fifty-eight mills consumed 94, 650,874 pounds, of cotton, being an increase in consumption of 3,181,427 pounds in six months of a very dull As Gen. The Reduction of Wazes.

There is seacely any don't that the reduction in the wages of most of the employes of the Northern roads has been very considerable, enough to make their pay less, in instances, than the cost of living. Some months ago the pay of the hands on the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, was reduced seventy-five cents a day. According will continue the business at the old to a telegram in the M. Y. "Herald:"

"The employes throughout country claim that not long since their wages were reduced from $2.25 and $2 00 to $1 75 and $1 50, which they stood without a murmur, but that now, in addition to the proposed reduction of ten per cent., they are not allowed to make but fifteen days in month. This, they say, will not furnish them with the bayest means of substances. For example, fifteen days at $1 35 per day is $20 25; board is, at the lowest estimate, 25 cents per meal; thirty days at 75 cents is $22 50; this brings them in debt $2 25 per month for board alone. They also claim that the company will find it an up hill job to find men to fill the places of the present employes, and lose thousands of dollars by employing inexperienced hands. The firemen and brakemen employed in the city say that the first cut was made on their wages in 1873. They had then had a quarter of a day deducte from the time allowed on a trip which previously occapied a day and a quarter, and a similar reduction eggal to twenty per cent, made in all alses. On Sundays they had been allowed a half day's extra pay, which had also declares further that neither of the been deducted. The quarter of a day allowed them at the depot when called and not sent out was also stricken His object in what he has done, we from their pay, which at that time was $2 25 per day. They were compelled to take trains greater distances and put up their engines, which gave them three hours additional work daily without compensation. By this last reduction the fremen and brakemen of the first-class received $1.58 per day, and the second class $1 35, with but four days work in the week. The engineers formerly received $3.75 per day and a bonus of twenty-five cents per day for every other month. They now receive $2 90 der the recuperating influences of good per day and conductors $225. While neither of the latter had joined in the strike they sympathize with the move-

The Situation on the Rio Grande

When the Diaz government rescined the arrangement entered into letween the Mexican General Trevino and General Ord to act in concert against the marauders of the Ric Grande, it was equivalent to an order to prevent General Ord from pursuing the marauders across the river and into Mexican territory as he has been instructed to do by President Hayes. Persons who are in a posi tion to be thoroughly posted as to our relations with Mexico, say that they are now in such a critical coudition as to cause very grave apprehen sion that war may be precipitated at any time by some rash action upon the part of the Mexican authorities. The action of General Trevino on the part of the Mexican authorities is in terpreted as giving full force to a late order directing Trevino to resist by orce of arms any attempt of the Inited States troops to cross the Mexican border in pursuit of cattle thieves. The struggle for freights between the four great trunk lines of the North is the prime cause of the reduction of wages which the railroad lines have made. We do not hesitate to say that this reduction has been carried so far in some cases that it bears grievously upon certain classes of the employes, and the need is to inquire carefully into the matter and see how far relief can be afforded. But as the New York "Herald" well remarks. 'we wish to call the attention of honest and respectable working men to an important distinction which it does not become them to overlook. It is one thing to sympathize with a strike and to wish the strikers success; cloth and leather, at Townsend & it is quite another and a very different thing to wish success to a mob or t men who engage in lawless actions An orderly strike may deserve the sympathy of the whole community. The Crucial Test of the value of a mediclaim put forth in its favor at the outset? is the grand question. Apply this criterion, so simple, yet so searching, to Tarrant's Effervescent Seltzer Aperient. How has it worn? What has been its history? How does it stand to-day?

Tarrant's Seltzer Aperient is a household name throughout the United States. It is administered as a specific, and with success, in dyspepsia, sick headache, nervous debility, liver complaint, bilious remittents, bowel complaints (especially constipation), rheumatism, gout, gravel, nausea, the complaints peculiar to the maternal sex, and all types of inflammation. So mild is it in its operation that it can be given with perfect safety to the feeblest child; and so agreeable is it to the taste, so retreating palate, that children never refuse to take it.
