Opening of the Ohio Campaign.

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio, July 28.—The opening of the Ohio campaign is being held in Springfield, Ohio, today.

Lancaster, Ohio, July 24.—Gen. Ewing, democratic candidate for Governor, addressed a large assembly here to-night.

Gen. Ewing said that the two great parties in that State were fairly represented in the two parties throughout the country. The struggle in Ohio is one between the dominating ideas of the two great parties upon the uppermost questions of the day, and this gave its importance to the canvass. The Republicans claim credit for economy in public expenditures, but the Democrats, since they have controlled the House, have reduced the expenses and saved the people $21,000,000 a year. Since June 30, 1866, the people have paid $4,311,000,000 in Federal taxes, of which but $928,000,000 have been applied to the principal of the public debt. If the Republicans had been as economical in the nine years preceding 1875 as the Democrats have forced them to be since, the public debt would have been reduced $345,000,000 more. What has been saved in spite of steady and strenuous opposition from Republicans and the administration; in spite of continuous howls about the treacherous purposes of the Democracy. This illustrates the need for frequent changes of the administration. In the dark times of Grant and Sherman, Proctor Knott wanted to pay salaries to the east-iron hitching-post boys along the avenues, saying they were the only fellows in the District without salaries from the government. The constant tendency of the public service is towards growth of patronage and power. This tendency has only been checked in part by the election of a Democratic Congress. A complete change in administration is needed to carry out the reform as it should be. The expenses of the government in 1877, outside of charges for debt and pensions, were $114,000,000, nearly double what they were in 1860. Population has increased nearly 50 per cent., but expenses in a double ratio. A change in administration will show that many other reductions can still be made. Gen. Ewing charged that "funding" contributions of Secretary Sherman have been made needlessly expensive to the people, and that the increase in the amount that they have to pay to the same principal. The 4 per cent bonds have been bought because they do not reactually, by being exempt from taxation, 6 and 7 per cent bonds. The industry has been so broken down that capital cannot earn 4 per cent clear in other directions. Investments in these securities is not an evidence of prosperity, but of idle capital seeking profits. It is desirable to have our bonds held at home, but the eagerness to get them shows that business is generally unprosperous. Silent mills, fireless furnaces, scanty wages, want of work, swarms of tramps, all attest the success of Mr. Sherman in so shrinking and diminishing the business of the country that money, accumulating in hoards, and fearful of all other investments, is eager to take the 6 per cent of interest and exemption offered by the government rather than embark on the dead sea of industry. The people have lost three or four hundred times as much as the government has saved. Resumption happened to occur with great crops and a great foreign demand, and the latter have secured the success of the former. Wages do not increase, however, and gold prices are one-third lower than prices would be with a bi-metallic currency. This added 50 per cent to the burden of our debt, and made tax-payers groan everywhere. The Republicans insist upon a mono-metallic currency, and want us to let the finance question alone. But neither they nor we are willing to do any such thing. They want to maintain the gold standard, while Mr. Ewing and his friends seek to substitute Democrat government money for Republican bank money. If the Republicans succeed, it will be a victory for the national banks, and thus private corporations will have it in their power to regulate the volume of the currency. Gen. Ewing said he was willing to abide by the popular decision on these issues. As to the question of free elections, the Democratic party had forced the issue on the repeal of the statutes because the Republicans had swindled the people out of their election in 1876, and stood ready to repeat the fraud in 1880. The army had been used—what guaranty was there it would not be used again? Supervisors and their hangers had been paid out of the public treasury to force the election of Republican Congressmen against the will of the people. Was it right to leave this party in possession of this power which has been so much abused? On this question we have appealed from the President to the people. Let the latter decide it. If you want to pay hundreds of thousands of dollars each congressional election to have bayonets around the polls and marshals and spies to inspect and control State election officers, vote the Republican ticket, for the Democracy will never spend a dollar for that service. The power to regulate elections resides in the States and the Democracy proposes to keep it there. The speaker was not a strict constructionist, but believed in maintaining the distinctive features of the constitution on which the perpetuation of popular liberty depends. It was the tendency of Republican measures and policy to "abstain government by the people, and it was to the masses of the people that he looked to oppose these tendencies and keep unswerving for their children the jewel of popular liberty and self-government."

The Yellow Fever.

MEMPHIS, July 28.—Three new cases of yellow fever were reported to the Board of Health this morning. No deaths had occurred. A detail of twenty-five men from a colored military company has been made to do police duty during the day, as the entire strength of the regular police force has been assigned to night service. It has been raining steadily since daylight.

Laying Corner Stone.

The Post says: "The 16th of August will be a gala day for the farmers and working men generally of this section of North Carolina, and the western portion of S. C. The corner stone of the Main Exhibition Building of the Dixie Agricultural and Mechanical Association will be laid with appropriate ceremonies. Col. L. L. Polk, our worthy Commissioner of Agriculture for North Carolina, will deliver an Agricultural address. Judge Fowle, Senator Vance, Governor Jarvis and others are invited, and will, no doubt, be present and enliven the occasion by addresses. The military companies of this and adjoining counties will be present, in full uniform. The gentlemen of the Wadesboro Cornet Band will give the piece of music. The ladies will have plenty to eat on hand, which will be sold very cheap, and the proceeds will go towards paying the expenses of the buildings. From what we can see and learn from the managers, it will be a lively time in old Wadesboro on the 16th day of August next. We hope to see the good honest working men and fair ladies of Union, Stately, Montgomery, Richmond and Anson counties, N. C., and Chesterfield, S. C., (and in fact, from other counties,) assembled on the beautiful grounds of the Dixie Association on Saturday, August 16th, for we can assure them that they will have a day of rare enjoyment. They will not only enjoy themselves, but will be benefited by the addresses they will hear from the distinguished orators who will be present. Do not fail to come—"rain or shine." The ladies are only invited by the managers, but Col. Polk requests us to urge them to be present, as he desires to talk to them.

A Specimens Tar-Heel Editor.

We are pleased to notice among the names of a number of gentlemen spoken of for Congress from the Sixth Congressional District in North Carolina, that of Colonel Charles R. Jones, the veteran editor of the Charlotte Observer. To our mind the patriotic people of the District would very greatly honor themselves by lending Colonel Jones the nomination, and although the candidate of the Convention for that District is of no immediate concern to us, yet we cannot desist speaking a good word for a man who had many words and did so much for our dear old State when she travelled sorrow and her proud senators were bedragged in the mire of Radical rotteness. He has ever been an up-and-up citizen on the watch tower of our own liberties as well as the Old North State, which State he has always served faithfully in every station of his life.—Chester (S. C.) Bulletin.

ADVANTAGES DECIDED.—The advantages in the use of Dr. Price's Special Flavoring Extracts are decided, as they are put up in bottles of full measure; made from the true fruits and aromatics, without poisonous oils or others, pure and true.

THE COTTON.—One of the most intelligent and successful farmers in the county says there has been more smoke than fire about this drought business. He says it has undoubtedly cut off the corn crop to some extent but that the injury to cotton is nominal. He has had as little rain as anybody in the county and yet he is not cast down. August is the month that decides the fate of the cotton crop and he maintains that if August is favorable more cotton will be raised in Mecklenburg county this year than was last. The stalks is small, of course at present, but he has rarely ever seen it with more squares, and if there is not so much rain next month as to cause these forms to rot and drop off, the yield will be all that could be reasonably expected in any season. After the long and long continued croaking which has been maintained in reference to the work of the drought it is as refreshing as the rain to meet up with a farmer who talks as this one does.—Charlotte Observer 29th.

The most lucky Judge before the January term of the Supreme Court was Judge A. C. Avery, who out of 8 cases was affirmed in 7 and reversed in only 1; Judge Schenck stood next, with 8 cases affirmed and 2 reversed; Graves had 2 affirmed and 4 reversed; Sway our 11 affirmed and 10 reversed; Buxton, 7 affirmed and 6 reversed; Kerr, 6 affirmed and 5 reversed.

—Greenville Express: Mr. I. A. Sage had on exhibition at this office last Friday a stalk of cotton 24 feet long, 3 feet across and containing 172 squares. The cotton is the Double Lime Prolific, and Mr. Sage will exchange the seed of it for the ordinary cotton at the rates of one bushel of the Prolific for three of the ordinary. He has another stalk at his farm on which are 214 squares, counted by himself in the presence of some neighbors last Sunday.

THE WEATHER AND CROPS.—These are subjects which never lose interest with any class of people, as upon the weather and the crops depends the prosperity of every other branch of business. The merchant, lawyer, doctor and mechanic, feel as much concerned upon such matters as the farmer who tills the soil. Since our last issue good rains have fallen in every section of the country, and the withered crops of cotton and corn which a week ago promised no yield, have considerably revived, especially young corn and cotton, and now have a more cheerful appearance. We may, however, upon the whole, calculate on a great falling off in the corn crop, at least one third. With favorable seasons from this time on, there will be a great out-coming in cotton, but under no circumstances can a full crop be made. Some sections of the country have not suffered much from drought. We hear that the crops of both corn and cotton on Little Lynches creek, Flat Creek and Dry Creek, are fine. These sections have been blessed with timely rains. The portion of the county which suffered the greatest by the drought covers the area from Gooch's ferry North-east to the neighborhood of Rev. C. A. Plyler, including all the territory North of the Village. As it is a settled fact that the corn crop will be a short one, economy should be practiced and nothing wasted on the farm which will contribute to the support of animal life.—Lancaster Ledger.

A FAILURE.—Any attempt to produce perfume in this or any other country that can surpass Dr. Price's Unique Perfumes, will prove a failure, for Dr. Price's perfumes are as fresh and sweet as the flowers from which they are made, and cannot be improved.
