Mixed with a little Romance. BY JUDGE CLARK. Oscar Warner had just sat down to breakfast. All the surroundings beamed elegance and comfort. The room, one of a "suite"—to quote the landlady's French—in a handsome brown stone house, on a fashionable street, was the very perfection of a bachelor's breakfast parlor.

Oscar Warner, in dressing gown and slippers, looked the picture of content, reclining in his cushioned chair, leisurely discussing the savory breakfast set before him. And a quite contented man he was just then, and with good reason; for in a month he was to wed Fida Mabley, a beauty, an heiress, and better yet, esteemed by all who knew her as a true and noble woman.

With wealth to command, and health to enjoy every luxury, and his most cherished hopes secure of being realized, what man would not be contented? But clouds often suddenly obscure the brightest sky. Oscar was slowly sipping his mocha when a servant presented a letter on a salver.

"Ha! my old friend, Seth Lambert's hand!" he exclaimed, glancing at the superscription. "It's a long time since I saw it."

Leaving the mocha to waste its fragrance as it might, he tore open the envelope. Something wrapped in pink tissue-paper, dropped from the folds of the letter, but Oscar's eyes were already busy with the written words.

"Be sure you don't look at the enclosed card," began Seth's epistle, "till you've read what follows. It's the face, faintly reproduced, of the loveliest woman in the world. You'd be sure to fall in love with it at the first sight, unless forewarned of the hopelessness of such a passion—which warning I now proceed to give; This day fortnight the substantial angel of which I here send the shadow, will be Mrs. Seth Lambert. Our courtship was brief, but to the point. Can't you come to the wedding? Now you may look."

Oscar picked up the photograph and a startled look he sprang from his chair, upsetting the table and frightening the servant from the room. The face revealed was that of Fida Mabley. "Perfidious deceiver!" he cried in a frenzy of despair and rage. "I see it all!"

And this is what he saw or thought he did. Fida had gone to spend a few weeks with a maiden aunt in a town some hundreds of miles distant. Thither the demon of mischance must have guided the errant steps of Seth Lambert, whose winning ways and comely looks, it was plain, had won the fickle Fida from her loyalty. He acquitted his friend however, of all intentional wrong, believing he had acted in entire ignorance of Fida's prior vows.

"But I shall undeceive him!" Oscar hissed through his teeth—"and in such a way as most thoroughly to expose and punish this brazen betrayer of plighted troth."

question," he said sternly. "Is there not an uncancelled agreement of marriage between us?"

"Why do you ask her?" interrupted Seth Lambert. "Here is the only one we have come to confront" turning toward a tall handsome girl, whose blushes proved to be the bride-expectant.

"She? I never saw her before," asseverated Oscar, with a puzzled look. "But it was her likeness I sent."

"It was not; it was Miss Mabley's," insisted Oscar, and in proof he produced the letter with its enclosure. It was Seth's turn to be puzzled. "There's some unaccountable mystery here" was all he could find to say.

"Which it's about time to clear up," put in Kate Lemure, Seth's mischievous cousin, a visit to whose family had turned his travels thitherward. "You see, cousin Seth having been interrupted in the writing of his letter, left it partly finished on the desk, with the photograph already done up lying near, and I slipped one of Fida Mabley's in the place. The course of true love had been running smooth, so long that things were growing stupid, so I thought I'd mix them with a little romance."

Kate was first sentenced to banishment from the wedding; but that, in consideration of her being only a school-girl, was finally commuted to a good scolding, to which she submitted with much apparent penitence.

With a little coaxing Fida Mabley consented to requite her lover's recent sufferings by adding another wedding to the day's proceedings.

Strict Vegetarianism. A man wandered down Calhoun street last night, and approaching Ivey's grocery store asked of the proprietor:

"You got some greens don't it?" "Greens? Yes sir."

"You got rooting bakers?" "Rutabagas? Yes sir; how many will you have?"

"Got some little red blates mit green tops?" "Red plates with green tops? Well, no sir; I suppose you will find them at the china store up town."

"Don't get no little blates? Guess it was better of you got some; guess you was a liar. Vich you call dose?" "Those? Why those are radishes."

"Red dishes—dot's vat I said. Say, may be I got some letters of you to morrow. You got it?"

"Letters? There are no letters here for you; you must inquire at the post-office."

"Ankwire mit de best office for letters? Dose was a fine skeems. I was up town and venturf a bako shop and vant some buns, and de man said, 'get out you old bum, or I'll fire you troe de door.'" doctor's bill to pay, and altogether it set me back niah unto a thousand dollars; but I've worked that down right smart, and if the good Lord will trust me this year I think I will wipe it all out. I tell you, squire, debt is the worst thing I ever experienced. Thunder and lightning ain't nowhere. The fact is I'd rather risk a small war and Yankee bullets, for debts makes cowards of us all. I've seen the time when I was afeard to go town, for if I did look like I could meet them fellows I owed, more times, and at more corners than anybody else, and sometimes one would holier at me clean across the square, 'Gaston! Oh, Gaston! John Gaston! I say! let me see you a minute.' And then it would take me might nigh half an hour to tell it all over to him, why I hadn't paid, and what was my future prospects. Positively I've walked round a whole square to slip in somewhere where they wouldn't see me, to buy a plug of tobacco or a spoon of bread."

"Debt is a hard master," said I. "That it is, squire; and I was a readin last Sunday about David; and it read that when David went to the cave of Adullam to start a little army to fight Saul, everybody came to him who was discontented or in debt. My conscience said I, that's a new idea for raisin an army. It beats conscription all to death. If our government had only thought about it, and passed a law that the soldiers' debts should all be wiped out, I believe we would have whipped in the fight. Well, the next time the Yankees stir up a fuss, we'll know exactly what kind of a horn to blow. I do think David was about the smartest man, perhaps."

I've been feeling better since I interviewed Gaston. He's a good man; and General Wofford told me a better soldier never shouldered a musket or slung a canteen.

A Farmer Gives a Lesson in Law. The average American farmer certainly knows how to look after his interest, and he has a keen wit that is hard to get over. For example: Some days ago the conductor of a freight train saw a couple of fine-looking ducks on the river near the track. He had a shotgun in the carouse car, and stopping the train for a few minutes, he got off and shot both of the birds. He thought this was something to congratulate himself on, and when he reached his home he invited a little party of friends to partake of the fruits of his prowess. A couple days after the conductor happened to be stopped at the place where the ducks had been shot. He got out his gun and walked down to the river with the intention of bagging a couple more if possible. He had scarcely reached the edge of the river before a man, who looked like a farmer, approached him and said:

"Are you the man who shot those two ducks here day before yesterday?" "Yes, that was me," said the sportsman, rather proudly.

"Well, those ducks belonged to me. They wasn't any of your wild ducks, but were tame ones."

"Oh, yshaw! you can't fool me. I guess I know a wild duck from a tame one."

"Will you pay me for the ducks?" said the farmer coolly. "No, sir, I won't. You can't prove the ducks were not wild ones."

That Big Fee. Some time since a number of Detroit lawyers invested in—and nailed up at their desk a sign reading that they were very busy just then, but would see the visitor later. The signs were doing all the good hoped for, when one day a withered-up old man entered an office, gazed stupidly around, and at last inquired:

"Kin I see the lawyer for a few minutes?" He had a book under his arm and directed to the sign, and after reading it he turned away, saying:

"Well, if you're very busy I won't stop. It was a case where there was about forty thousand dollars at stake, and—"

But he was out in the hall by that time, and he didn't seem to hear the invitation to come back. The lawyer, vexed and annoyed, tore down the sign at once and hoped the old man might return. Sure enough, he entered again yesterday, and not seeing the sign he sat down and asked:

"Very busy this morning?" "Oh, no—plenty of time," was the reply.

"Sure I won't annoy you?" "Oh you can't annoy me at all. I shall listen to you with the greatest pleasure."

"Well then," said the old man as he slowly undid his book, "I'd like to call your attention to this 'Lie of Napoleon.' It is said that the engravings alone cost forty thousand dollars. We are selling this book to lawyers at—"

The attorney grew white around around the month, and asking to be excused for a moment he put on his hat and went down for a ride on the ferry boat, calculating to be gone just two hours.—Detroit Free Press.

An exchange says kerosene will make teakettles shine as bright as new. "Yes," remarks another paper, "kerosene will do wonders; it will make a whole house shine so that it can be seen for miles; but it is dreadfully destructive to paint."

"That is what I call a finished sermon," said a lady to her husband, as they wended their way from church. "Yes," was the reply with a yawn, "but do you know, I thought it never would be."

Country doctor to the bereaved widow of a late member of the Georgia Legislature: I cannot tell how pained I was to hear that your husband had gone to heaven. We were bosom friends, but now we shall never meet again.

"When was Rome built?" asked a school teacher of the first class in ancient history. "In the night," answered a bright little girl. "In the night!" exclaimed the astonished teacher. "How do you make that out?" "Why, I thought everybody knew Rome wasn't built in a day!" replied the child.

In Staunder, Canada, a man sold ten cent packages, "Warranted sure death to potato bugs; no risk of poisoning animals, as with Paris green." The packages were not opened until time to use them. One victim, having three, opened one, and found two square blocks of wood, on one of which was written: "Place the bug on this block and press firmly with the other." [This must have been in Connecticut instead of Canada.]

A gentleman not extremely given to piety was dismayed by being asked to say grace at a strange table. To refuse and explain would be embarrassing; to comply would be equally so. He chose the latter and started off briskly enough with, "O, Lord, bless this table—." Just here, being unused to the business, he nearly broke down, but by a gigantic effort pulled through with "World without end. Yours respectfully, Amen."

A man called at a prominent New Yorker's house and informed the gentleman's wife that her husband had accidentally fallen into the river, was rescued with difficulty and was now lying in a down town hotel waiting for her to forward him dry clothing. The lady gave the stranger a suit of her husband's best clothing, with full undergarments, when the fellow, who proved to be an impostor departed with his ill-gotten gains.

A good story is told in Edinburgh about that genial Grecian Professor Blackie. One day, shortly before the close of the late session, the professor being through some cause prevented from lecturing, there was posted on the Greek class room door a notice to this effect: "Professor Blackie regrets he is unable to-day to meet his classes." A waggyish student, spying this, scrawped out the intional letter of the last word of the sentence, and made it appear as if the professor was regretful at his inability to meet those fair specimens of humanity familiarly known outside the college quadrangle as the "lasses." But who can joke Blackie? The keen-eyed old man noticing the prank that had been played on him, quickly erased another letter, and left the following to be read by whom it might concern: "Professor Blackie regrets he is unable to-day to meet his asses!"

EXPERIENCE OF YEARS.—The experience of years has not detracted from the acknowledged excellence of the qualities of Dr. Price's Special Flavoring Extracts, but has completely established in their hold upon the tastes of all persons who love delicious flavors. They will satisfy the nicest taste.

The Monroe Enquirer.

Monroe, N. C. Saturday July 5 1879.

THE GLORIOUS FOURTH.—Beyond the closing of the Bank and the big picnic at High Hill the 4th of July was not observed in Monroe.

THE FIRST BALE.—Galveston, Tex., July 1.—The first bale of new cotton was shipped to-day from DeWitt Co. to Heidenheimer Bros., of this city.—The earliest bale on record came from the same county on July 3rd 1860.

MARRIED in Erath county Texas, June 12th 1879, by Rev. Middleton, Mr. Thomas W. Robertson to Miss M. Pannier Wolfe, formerly of this county.

We are gratified to learn that Bro. Shotwell, of the Farmer & Mechanic, will begin at an early day, the publication of a series of articles in this paper, entitled, "Three Years in Battle and Three in Prison." We know they will be very interesting.

PENMANSHIP.—We were shown a few days ago by Mr. W. L. Yarbrough, who bears a diploma from Prof. Scott, a nice lot of specimens of Plain and Ornamental Penmanship. He proposes to commence teaching in a few days and is recommended by Prof. Scott.

At a regular meeting of Stoneval Lodge, No. 99, I. O. O. F., held Tuesday night, the officers elected at a previous meeting were installed, and the following officers appointed: B. F. Fincher, O. G.; T. C. Lingle, I. G.; J. E. W. Austin, W.; M. L. Stevens, C.; G. D. Brown, R. S. N. G.; H. B. Shute, L. S. N. G.; W. W. Walsh, R. S. V. G.; J. W. Stephenson, L. S. V. G.; P. A. Grimale, R. S. S.; G. C. Funderburk, L. S. S.

The season for the first cotton bloom having passed, it is now in order for some enterprising planter to send the first watermelon to the Exogram office;—we will guarantee a cordial reception for it. In this connection, we will state that we will give a year's subscription for the largest watermelon sent us during the season. A list of weights will be kept at our office, and when the season closes, announcement made as to who wins.

SINCE Tuesday last, it is a misdemeanor punishable by fine and imprisonment to carry about the person any pistol, bowie knife, dagger, slung shot, loaded cane, brass, iron or metal knuckles, or other deadly weapon. Parties heretofore in the habit of carrying such weapons would do well to notice this fact, as the possession of them outside of their own premises, is to be taken as prima facie evidence of an intention to violate the law.

FOR THE SEA SHORE.—See the advertisement of the Atlantic Hotel Beaufort, N. C., under the management of Mr. B. L. Perry. The hotel is situated directly over the water, the tide ebbing and flowing beneath it, and it commands an unobstructed view of the ocean. All the amusements of sea-side resort are offered to guests—surf-bathing, sailing, fishing, etc. Well supplied table, billiards, ten-pins, band of music in attendance during the season.

CONGRESS.—The extra session of Congress, after a three months term, adjourned on Monday afternoon last. All the appropriations bills were passed except the one by U. S. Marshals and Deputy Marshals. The President vetoed the bill passed by the Democratic majority in consequence of some restrictions it contained about the use of Marshals at the polls, and the Democrats refused to pass one without said restrictions, and adjourned. It will not interfere with the holding of the U. S. Courts. A bill to admit Quinine free of duty was adopted by both Houses.

THE HOT FIGHT IN OHIO.—A Washington dispatch in the St. Louis Republic says Generals Ewing and Rice have been in consultation there, and have decided to make such a canvass of Ohio as has not been made in years. Democratic members of Congress from other States have volunteered to go into Ohio and do all they can to help the ticket. The Democrats realize they will have to overcome an all-powerful money and Federal official influence, and they are going to make that fact an issue of the campaign.

Foster, the Republican candidate, is a rich man, and will spend his money freely to be elected, as he is full of ambition to be not only Governor of Ohio, but at least Senator. A seat in the Senate was always in his mind when he was here in Congress.

We don't know that we need to apologize for using so much space in printing Mr. Hurd's speech this week, as we are sure our readers will appreciate it. We notice it very highly spoken of by the Press, and some go so far as to say that it is the best speech delivered during the extra session of Congress. The Washington Sunday Gazette says it is "a speech that Demosthenes might have been proud of." The Washington Post thus refers to it:—

"Mr. Hurd's grand speech in the House in general defense of his party's position in Congress and in particular reply to Mr. Garfield, was the talk of the town all day yesterday. It is not too much to say that it will stand as the speech of the session. Mr. Garfield was completely overwhelmed, and in his fall he took his party and all its bogus pretense along with him.

Highway Robbery.—We learn from Mr. F. F. McGill, who has been a peddler of tin for Mr. J. W. Rudge for some time, that on last Saturday night, when about 9 miles from here on the Curleton Store road, near the residence of Mr. Alex. Winchester, he was halted by three blacked men, who dragged him from his horse, cutting open his pants pocket, and took therefrom his pocket-book, containing $35.00 and a fine double-case patent lever silver watch. Mr. Rudge's name was marked on inside of the case with the point of a knife blade. The people of that neighborhood especially, should inquire in to the matter and arrest the robbers if possible.

The New Teachers.—Attention is called to the teachers whose names appear in the ad't of the Monroe High School this issue.—Miss Walker is a graduate of Augusta Female Seminary at Staunton, Va., is a teacher of experience and thoroughly devoted to her work. She comes highly recommended. Mrs. H. W. Houston is well known in Monroe as an earnest and successful teacher, and is well adapted to gain the love and esteem of the children. Miss Pearson is very popular as a Musical Instructor and will give lessons on both Piano and Organ.

Monroe Produce Market (Reported Weekly by A. H. Crowell & Son, dealers in General Merchandise and Country Produce.)

July 5, 1879.—Flour from wagons market firm at $3.25 to $3.40 Corn firm at 75; Meal at 80 cts; Peas, at 75 cts; Western Bacon from stores, at 64 cts; Country Bacon from wagons, at 64 cts; Lard from stores at 10 cts; Fresh Beef from wagons 3-4 cts, by the quarter; Butter, in demand at 12 1/2 cts; Spring Geese in demand at 20 1/2 cts; Spring Chickens, in demand at 8 1/2 cts; Beans, at 18 1/2 cts; Tallow 43 cts; Dry Hides, 9 cts; Green Hides 4 1/2 cts; Wool, tub-washed, 28 1/2 cts; Wool, unwashed, 20 cts; Eggs, 10 cts; Oat 30 cts.

Devilry on the Rail.—We learn that two or more unsuccessful attempts were made last Saturday and Monday to throw the train on the C. C. R. from the track, at some point between Polkton and Boggan's "Cut," by placing at one time a cross-tie and at another a long plank across the track. At the time the latter was placed there, the engineer on the local freight, on Monday, saw the person leave after depositing the plank, having run up on him sooner than was expected and before he had time to secure the obstruction. In the first case the section-master fortunately discovered the obstruction; otherwise, no doubt, the passenger train would have been wrecked, as it passed at night, and the logs were placed at a point just around a curve. After removing the obstructions the section-master had the place guarded that night, and while there some one stepped up, so we learn, and shot at the crowd, the ball severing the watch chain of the section-master, and passing through his coat, without further damage.

Of all class of criminals, the train-wrecker is certainly the worst; he displays a malignity against the whole human race, and exhibits a devilry of purpose that no one can fathom. A man who would deliberately endanger the lives of the traveling public just to gratify the ill will he has toward an officer of the road, or train, or the Company, should be summarily dealt with, whenever caught. We sincerely hope this offender may be caught, and the C. C. R. Co., should spare no efforts to bring this callous hearted villain to justice.

Jottings.—Picnics are the order of the day. This month has five Tuesdays, five Wednesdays and five Thursdays.

We find no important happenings this week out of which we can make local news.

The heat for the past few days has been extremely oppressive, with cool nights and mornings.

The camp-meeting at Pleasant Grove, will, we learn, embrace the 4th Sunday in August.

No elderly maiden should be without a sewing machine, now that a feller accompanies each one.

A number of excursion parties from this section of the State this week;—and more are on the tapis.

We call attention to the advertisement of A. H. Crowell & Son, in which they invite the attention of the public to their 5 cent counter.

50 gallons machine oil and a full assortment of Fresh Drugs now in store at H. C. Ashcraft's. See new advertisement next issue.

We were promised a report from the Celebration at Prospect yesterday, but up to the time of going to press it has not been received.

A protracted meeting is now being held at the Baptist Church in this place. The Pastor has the assistance of his brother, the Rev. J. P. King, of Wilmington.

Mr. W. P. Clyburn left last night for Philadelphia, where he goes to accept a situation with Messrs. Hess, Rogers & Chambers. Messrs. J. G. Covington and E. J. Heath accompany him to "see the sights."

Another Excursion will be run to Beaufort, N. C. on the 15th and 16th. W. Pigott, of Charlotte. Only 120 tickets are for sale. Price for round trip $6.50.

List of Letters Remaining in the Post office at Monroe, N. C. July 1st 1879. H. W. Austin; T. W. Doster; Baily Field; R. P. Gate 2; Marzen Laurel; Miss Little; E. M. Stegall; Haley Sechorn; A. H. WOLFE, P. M.

The Fourth of July picnic was had at High Hill yesterday, and quite a large crowd from Monroe attended. Not having a reporter there, we are unable to give an extended notice as to how the day was passed. Perhaps some one may write us a letter for next issue.

GRANDER SCHOOL.—Rev. B. York, D. D. will commence teaching a class in Grammar at Mill Grove Church in Goose Creek township on Monday the 21st inst. The text book will be the new edition of York's High School Grammar. The term is 20 days.

We call the attention of all who wish to take a good daily newspaper to the advertisement of the Baltimore Sun. To our mind the Sun is the best newspaper on the American continent. It contains all the news, and contains it, too, in brief, succinct form.

A Living Giant 100 Feet High. Cannot be found anywhere in the world, but C. W. Bruner will exhibit to you the finest collection of—of cigars to be found in the market. 21f Town Talk. Now, Charlie, don't say that any more, The "Town Talk" is the best Cigar in Monroe.

If this aren't so, why—it's the "Town Talk."

Work of the Extra Session of Congress. WASHINGTON, July 1.—During the session of Congress which terminated to-day, 732 bills and 49 joint resolutions were introduced in the Senate, and 2,395 bills 119 joint resolutions were introduced in the House of Representatives. The following are among the principal bills which were passed and have become laws: To prevent the introduction of contagious disease; to contract for the construction of a refrigerating ship for the disinfection of vessels and cargoes; to extend the time for the postal service; bill relating to vinegar factories operated prior to March 1, 1879; extending the pension of Gen. James Shields to his widow and children, and granting a special pension to the widow of Col. Fletcher Webster; exempting from registry, enrollment or license vessels not propelled by sail or internal motive power of their own; joint resolution relating to the national board of health; the army and the judicial expenses bills; bills for the exchange of subsidiary coins for federal money, &c.; to provide for a Mississippi river commission; to authorize the District of Columbia to issue twenty-year five per cent. bonds; supplementary postal appropriation; to put quinine on the free list; to allow John Merryman and Frank Brown, of Maryland, to import cattle for breeding purposes; completion of the foundation of the Washington monument to be erected to mark the birth place of Washington. During the present session there have been presented in the House 2,019 petitions.

The War Elephant, Bolivar. Died many years ago, but the peerless brand of cigars, White's Key West—still lives, and stands without a parallel for excellence as those who indulge in the soothing weed will testify. For sale by C. W. Bruner, one door north of Stewart House. 21f

The Marshals' Duties.—Attorney-General Devins has written the following letter to Gen. Matthews United States marshal at Detroit, in reply to a telegram asking whether the latter should continue to serve warrants in original cases as heretofore:—

DEAR SIR:—I advise you to perform the duties of your office, which you are in no way forbidden to do, to the extent of your power. The law prescribes those duties and affixes certain fees as compensation therefor. No provision for the payment of the fees of marshals and their deputies has been made, nor can I make any contract or promise that this provision shall hereafter be made; but your performance of your duties so far as the law compensated by fees, seems to me to constitute a good ground of obligation against the United States. Where the services of deputies are required and expenditures are to be made, I recognize the difficulties you may have to encounter. In all this matter, however, you will have to rely on your expectations of future legislation by Congress that shall be just to you. All other expenses the fees of marshals and their deputies have been provided for.

CHAS. DEVINS, Attorney-General.

Greensboro Female College, GREENSBORO, N. C.

THE 47th Session of THIS WELL-KNOWN Institution will open on Wednesday, the 20th of August.

Terms reduced to suit the times. Apply for catalogue to T. M. JONES, President.

Wanted. Raw Hides and Wool will be taken in exchange for goods and highest market prices paid by H. B. SHUTE.

June 21st '79. 1-3t

Town Talk.—The steady increase in our cigar trade, shows that the "Town Talk" is just what we claim for it, to-wit: the best 5 cent cigar on the market. Corner Drug Store.

After all the Town Talk and street bulletin advertising, Whitlock Key West 5 cent Cigar, purely a Havana filled—stands upon its own merits, and the unprecedentedly large sale with which it is meeting, evidences its superiority over other brands in the market. For sale by C. W. Bruner. 21f

TUTT'S PILLS! INTRODUCED, 1865.

A TORPID LIVER is the fruitful source of many diseases, prominent among which are DYSPEPSIA, SICK-HEADACHE, COSTIVENESS, DYSENTERY, RHEUMATISM, JAUNDICE, COLIC, ETC.

SYMPTOMS OF A TORPID LIVER. Loss of Appetite and Nausea, the bowels are constipated, but sometimes alternate with looseness. Pain in the liver, accompanied with dullness in the back part, Pain in the right side and under the shoulder-blade, fullness after eating, with a disinclination to exertion of body or mind, Irritability of temper, Low spirits, Loss of memory, with a feeling of having neglected some duty, General weariness; Dizziness, Fluttering at the Heart, Dots before the eyes, Yellow Skin, Headache generally over the right eye, or sometimes all night with dull colored urine. IF THESE WARNINGS ARE UNHEEDED, SERIOUS DISEASES WILL SOON BE DEVELOPED.

TUTT'S PILLS are especially adapted to such cases, a single dose effects such a change of feeling as to astonish the sufferer.

TUTT'S PILLS are compounded from substances that are free from any properties that can injure the stomach, disarrange the system, or create any morbid action. They are sold by all druggists.

A Noted Divine says: "TUTT'S PILLS are the best medicine for the Liver, and the best for the system in general. They are sold by all druggists."

TUTT'S PILLS. Their first effect is to increase the Appetite, and cause the body to take its food, thus the system is nourished, and by their Tonic Action on the Digestive Organs, Regular Stools are produced.

DR. J. F. HAYWOOD OF VIRGINIA. "Few diseases that cannot be relieved by restoring the Liver to its normal functions, and for this purpose, there is no more reliable medicine than TUTT'S PILLS."

TUTT'S HAIR DYE. GREAT BANE on numerous occasions to a Gray Hair, and the only safe and reliable remedy for its removal. It is sold by all druggists.

Yellow Fever-Black Vomit. It is too soon to forget the ravages of this terrible disease which will no doubt return in a more malignant and virulent form in the fall months of 1879.

MERRELL'S HEPATINE, a Remedy discovered in Southern Nubia and used with such wonderful results in South America where the most aggravated cases of fever, are found, causes from one to two ounces of bile to be filtered or strained from the blood each time it passes through the Liver, as long as an excess of bile remains. By this wonderful action on the Liver and Stomach the HEPATINE, not only prevents to a certainty any kind of Fever and Black Vomit, but also cures Headache, Constipation of the Bowels, Dyspepsia and Malarial Diseases.

No one need fear Yellow Fever who will expel the Malarial Poison and excess of bile from the blood by using MERRELL'S HEPATINE, which is sold by all Druggists in 25 cent and $1.00 bottles, or will be sent by express by the Proprietors, A. F. MERRELL & CO., Phila., Pa.

DR. PEMBERTON'S STILLINGIA QUEENS DELIGHT. The reports of wonderful cures of Rheumatism, Sciatica, Salt Rheum, Gout, Ulcers and Sores, that come from all parts of the country, are not only remarkable but so innumerable as to be doubted was it not the abundance of proof.

REMARKABLE CURE OF SOROFULIA, & C. CASE OF COL. J. C. BRANSON. KINGSWORTH, GA., September 15, 1879.

For fifteen years I have been a great sufferer from Sorofulia in its most violent form. I have been confined to my room and bed for fifteen years with sorofulic ulcerations. The use of approved remedies for these cases had been used, but the most eminent physicians consulted, without any decided benefit. My condition was such that, depending on the use of Dr. Ayer's Compound Cathartic Pills, I commenced the use of your Compound Stillingia Pills. Language is insufficient to describe the relief I obtained from the use of the Stillingia as it is to be cured. My Sorofulia was cured in a few days, and all the other ailments which had been the result of my Sorofulia, were cured in a few days. More than eight months have elapsed since this remarkable cure, without any return of the disease.

For the truth of the above statement, I refer to any gentleman in Kingsworth County, Ga., and to the members of the bar of Cherokee Circuit, who are acquainted with me. I shall ever remain, with the deepest gratitude, Your obedient servant, J. C. BRANSON, Atty at Law.

A MIRACLE. WEST POINT, GA., Sept. 16, 1879. My daughter was taken on the 26th day of June, 1868, with what was supposed to be acute Rheumatism, and was treated for the same with no success. In March, following, pieces of bone began to work out of the right arm, and continued to appear all the time. The elbow to the shoulder joint came out. Many pieces of bone were cut out of the right foot and leg. The case was then pronounced incurable. My daughter was confined about six years to her bed, and the case considered hopeless. I was induced to try Dr. Pemberton's Compound Stillingia Pills, and so well satisfied with its effects that I have continued the use of it until the present.

My daughter was confined to her bed about six years before she was up or even turned over without help. She now sits up all day and every night, and has walked across the room. Her general health is now good, and I believe she will, as her limbs gain strength, walk well. I attribute her recovery with the blessing of God, to the use of your invaluable medicine. With gratitude, I am, yours truly, WEST POINT, GA., Sept. 16, 1879.

Fall Crop of Irish Potatoes.

In your issue of the 12th inst., I see a reference to this crop. Believing "there are millions in it," I will give you the results of my experience and with this crop, during the past five or six years.

The most serious difficulty I have met with, was getting a start. Those of the previous year are generally so much exhausted that they will not germinate so late in the season when it is usually so hot and dry. Thus we have been forced to rely upon the spring crop for fall planting. The spring crop should not be gathered too early. Let them remain in the ground till the tops are quite all dead. Dig and place in the shade one layer deep, (when these rules for digging are observed it will usually take place from the 1st to the 10th of July.) After they have been dug ten days or two weeks, bed them as you would sweet potatoes, at some convenient point for water, not too much exposed to the sun. Water the bed daily with a copious supply of water—that which has been standing for a few hours preferred. This well attended to, they will have sprouted in ten or twelve days, but should not be taken up or planted till this takes place. Plant in the usual way, cultivate thoroughly, and the yield will be abundant. Do not dig till the vines are thoroughly killed by frost, as we have had them to attain half their sizes after the vines were partly killed. The fall crop is usually much larger and better formed than the spring crop. We have raised them to excel, in beauty and size, any Northern potato we have ever seen, and sold more readily at the same price. I have found the Early Rose to be the best variety for fall planting. A glance at this subject will satisfy any one that we may save at home the thousands of dollars we are annually sending abroad for Irish potatoes. It is all nonsense about "the stock running out." I can show fine potatoes that have been grown successively on the same farm for twelve years. Fall Irish potatoes are not difficult to keep, placed in barrels, mixed with chaff or cotton seed and stored in cellars or potato houses, in all that is required—Ox-ward and upward in Farmer and Mechanic.

Worth Remembering.

1. Child two years old has an attack of croup at night. Doctor at a distance. What is to be done? The child should be immediately undressed and put in a warm bath. Then give an emetic composed of one part of antimony wine to two of ipecac. The dose is a teaspoonful. If the antimony is not handy, give warm water, mustard and water, or any other simple emetic, dry the child and wrap it careful in a warm blanket.

2. Some one's nose bleeds and cannot be stopped. Take a plug of lint, moisten, dip in equal parts of powdered alum and insert in the nose. Bathe the forehead in cold water.

3. Child eats a piece of bread on which arsenic has been spread for killing rats. Give plenty of warm water, new milk in large quantities, gruel and linseed tea; foment the bowels. Scrape iron rust off anything, mix with warm water and give in large draughts of fluids until those given before have been vomited, because the stomach will not contract properly if filled, and the object is to get rid of the poison as quickly as possible.

4. A young lady who sits in a draught and comes home with a bad sore throat. Wrap flannel around the throat, keeping out draughts and sudden changes of atmosphere, and ever half hour take a pinch of chloride of potash, place it on the tongue and allow to dissolve in the mouth.

5. Child falls backward into a tub of water and is much scalded. Carefully undress the child, lay it on a bed on its breast; if the back is scalded; be sure all draughts are excluded; then dust over the parts scalded with bi-carbonate of soda; lay muslin over it; then make a tent by two boxes with a board over them in the bed, to prevent the heat from pressing on the scald; cover up warmly.

6. Mower cuts a driver's legs as he is thrown from seat. Put a tight bandage around the limb above the cut, slip a cork under it in the direction of a line drawn from the inner part of the knee to a little outside of the groin. Draw the edges of the cut together with sticking plaster.

7. Child has a bad ear ache. Dip a plug of cotton wool in olive oil, warm it and place it in the ear. Wrap up the head and keep it out of draughts.

Second Crop of Irish Potatoes.

I notice in your paper of the 12th inst. an inquiry relative to the very important matter of growing a "second crop of Irish Potatoes." At the suggestion of my son, (Mr. S. T. N.) I give my experience; which has proved very successful.

About the middle of June, we begin to dig more every day than we eat, sort out the smallest and spread on a floor, in a dry, cool place until enough is secured for the second planting. From the last of June to the middle of July, (according to the season, or when the ground is in good order, we plant for the second crop—cover in the usual way, and immediately cover the whole with straw. Never cut the potato for the second crop, they bleed so much, they will not sprout. The straw protects them from the scorching sun of July, and August, keeps the ground moist, also keeps down the weeds and grass, so they need no cultivation. We often make the largest potatoes from the second crop. Dig them in December, before a hard freeze, put them in flour barrels in the cellar; they will keep plump and sound through the winter. By following the above plan we can always have nice mealy potatoes, and no need of sending North for them. We plant the Early Rose, it being an early variety, which always mature in ample time for the second planting. We never attempt to keep spring potatoes through summer and winter.—M. E. N. in Farmer and Mechanic.

Horses should be watered in the morning before they are fed. A full drink of water immediately after being fed is sure of producing indigestion if not inflammation. When water is drunk by horses, the bulk of it goes directly to the large intestines, and little of it is retained in the stomach. Some old and worthless horses, by way of experiment, were fed with split peas and then supplied with water immediately before being killed. It was found that the water had carried the peas from fifty to sixty feet into the intestines where no digestion took place at all.

For Sick Headache.—Two teaspoonfuls of finely powdered charcoal drunk in half a tumbler of water will give relief to most headaches when caused, as in most cases it is by a superabundance of acid on the liver.

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver. PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are constive, sometimes alternate with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the LIVER to have been extensively deranged.

AGUE AND FEVER. DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, IN CASES OF AGUE AND FEVER, when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results. No better cathartic can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them a FAIR TRIAL.

For all bilious derangements, and as a simple purgative, they are unequalled.

Child eats a piece of bread on which arsenic has been spread for killing rats. Give plenty of warm water, new milk in large quantities, gruel and linseed tea; foment the bowels. Scrape iron rust off anything, mix with warm water and give in large draughts of fluids until those given before have been vomited, because the stomach will not contract properly if filled, and the object is to get rid of the poison as quickly as possible.

A young lady who sits in a draught and comes home with a bad sore throat. Wrap flannel around the throat, keeping out draughts and sudden changes of atmosphere, and ever half hour take a pinch of chloride of potash, place it on the tongue and allow to dissolve in the mouth.

Child falls backward into a tub of water and is much scalded. Carefully undress the child, lay it on a bed on its breast; if the back is scalded; be sure all draughts are excluded; then dust over the parts scalded with bi-carbonate of soda; lay muslin over it; then make a tent by two boxes with a board over them in the bed, to prevent the heat from pressing on the scald; cover up warmly.

Mower cuts a driver's legs as he is thrown from seat. Put a tight bandage around the limb above the cut, slip a cork under it in the direction of a line drawn from the inner part of the knee to a little outside of the groin. Draw the edges of the cut together with sticking plaster.

Child has a bad ear ache. Dip a plug of cotton wool in olive oil, warm it and place it in the ear. Wrap up the head and keep it out of draughts.
